Course and Title	Instructor	Assignment DUE FIRST NIGHT
BUS 1200 Intro to Management	Rick Painter	No specific assignment noted. Feel free to email the instructor at FPainter@nhcc.edu with questions.
ENGL 1201 College Writing I	Bridget Murphy	Hi everyone, I am looking forward to our first class, and in order to make the most of our short time together, I have some work for you to do before then. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Read Chapter 1 in Frames of Mind: a Rhetorical Reader with Occasions for Writing (FM). Explain one idea from the chapter that is intriguing/confusing/new to you and then explain its significance to you. Bring to first class Mon. 11. 2) Pick one of the David Sedaris essays posted on the content page of the course on D2L. You will find these essays in the content area of the course under "papers and handouts." Look for the link to professional sample narratives. Pick a story and cite a section from it --post it to the discussion forum on D2L and explain how/why it is an example of good writing/effective narration. Post by Monday, Jan. 11, 5pm. 3) Mini paper assignments. These 1-2 page assignments are meant as a prewriting exercise for your respective papers. They are not necessarily the exact topics for the papers, but they can serve as the basis for a paper or simply as a way of generating ideas for a paper. Mini paper 1 : Use writing prompt #2 on page 200 of Frames of Mind (FM). Pick a family photograph that tells a story, focusing specifically on what is not in the photograph. Bring your mini essay and photograph to class on Monday, Jan. 11.
